

When Do I Need a Fuel Permit?

You need a fuel permit if your vehicle is traveling out of state and:

- Is not registered under IFTA (International Fuel Tax Agreement)
- Has three or more axles
- Has two axles and a gross vehicle or registered weight over 26,000 lbs.
- Has a combined gross vehicle or registered weight over 26,000 lbs. (including tow vehicle and trailer)

What information will I need to request my fuel permit?

- USDOT and federal ID numbers
- Legal company name and DBA (if applicable)
- Billing address (if different)
- Combined gross registered weight
- License plate expiration date
- Contact name and phone number
- Fax or email to send permit to
- Unit number
- Year and make of vehicle
- Complete VIN
- License plate number and state
- Unit type (tractor, straight truck, etc.)
- States you are ordering permit for
- Date permit needs to be effective

Note that some states may ask for additional information.
